- 4.2. Pricing Information. FOREX.com Canada will make available, by posting on the FOREX.com Canada Online Trading System or by telephoning the FOREX.com Canada Trading Desk, Bid Prices and Ask Prices at which FOREX.com Canada is prepared to enter Foreign Currency Contracts or Cross Currency Contracts, Metal Contracts or CFD Contracts with Customer. Each Bid Price or Ask Price shall be for a Spot Contract with a specified Value Date and shall specify each Eligible Foreign Currency or tradable U.S. dollar-based currency pairs involved where applicable or in the case of a CFD in the Reference Asset. For purposes of a CFD, a Reference Asset means property of any description or an index or other factor designated in a CFD to which reference is made to fluctuations in the value or price of the purpose of determining profits or losses under the CFD. FOREX.com Canada expects that these prices will be reasonably related to the bid prices and ask prices available in the market at that time for similar transactions, but a number of factors, such as communication system delays, high volume or volatility can result in deviations between prices quoted by FOREX.com Canada and other sources. FOREX.com Canada makes no warranty, express or implied, that Bid Prices and Ask Prices represent prevailing bid prices and ask prices.
- 4.3. Order Execution. FOREX.com Canada will attempt to execute all Orders that it may, in its sole discretion, accept from Customer in accordance with Customer's instructions received through the FOREX.com Canada Online Trading System or via telephone to the FOREX.com Canada Trading Desk. In cases where the prevailing market represents prices different from the prices FOREX.com Canada has posted on our screen, FOREX.com Canada will attempt, on a best efforts basis, to execute trades on or close to the prevailing market prices. This may or may not adversely affect customer realized and unrealized gains and losses.
- 4.4. Principal Trades. All Contracts made and entered into by FOREX.com Canada hereunder, including all Contracts for Difference (CFDs) will be entered into by FOREX.com Canada as principal. Customer acknowledges, understands and agrees that FOREX.com Canada is not acting as a broker, intermediary, agent, and advisor or in any fiduciary capacity. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Section, Customer acknowledges, understands and agrees that all non-market orders such as Limit Orders, Stop/Loss Orders, One Cancels the Other Orders, Day Only Orders, and Good till Cancelled Orders, are accepted by FOREX.com Canada and undertaken on a "best-efforts basis" in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Trading Policies and Procedures, as amended from time to time.
- 4.5. Trade Matching. FOREX.com Canada or its affiliates may, at a future date, establish a trade matching system or determine to route Customer's orders to a trade matching system operated by third parties. In that event, FOREX.com Canada, and/or any one or more of its affiliates, shall have the right (but not the obligation), in the sole discretion of FOREX.com Canada or any such affiliate, to act for its own account, and as a counter party or as a broker to FOREX.com Canada customers, in the making of markets and the purchase and sale of Foreign Exchange Contracts, Cross Currency Contracts, Metal Contracts and CFD Contracts via any medium, including without limitation, over any trade matching network in use by FOREX.com Canada customers and/or the general public.
- 4.6. Transmission. FOREX.com Canada shall have no responsibility for delays in the transmission of orders due to disruption, failure or malfunction of communications facilities and shall not be liable for any claims, losses, damages, costs or expenses, including attorneys' fees, to any person or entity arising other than as a direct result of FOREX.com Canada's gross negligence.
- 4.7. Position & Trading Limits. FOREX.com Canada reserves the right to limit the number of Open Positions that Customer may enter or maintain in Customer's Account. FOREX.com Canada reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to refuse to accept any Order opening a new position or increasing an Open Position.
- 4.8. Closing a CFD Contract. To close a CFD Contract in whole or in part You must enter into a second CFD Contract in relation to the same Reference Asset as the first CFD Contract but You must sell if the first CFD Contract was a purchase and you must purchase if the first CFD Contract was a sell. FOREX.com Canada will treat your order to open a new position as an instruction to close the existing position to the extent of the size of the new position. If the new position is greater in size than the first position then the first position will be closed in full and a CFD Contract opened in relation to the excess size of the new position.
- 4.9. Expiry Transaction. Unless otherwise informed, if You do not close an Expiry Transaction, understood as a transaction which had a set contract period at the end of which the Expiry Transaction expires automatically, on or before the Last Dealing Time then, FOREX.com Canada will close Your Expiry Transaction as soon as FOREX.com Canada has ascertained the price of the Expiry Transaction. The price of the Expiry Transaction will be (a) the last traded price at or prior to the close or the applicable official closing quotation or value in the relevant Reference Asset as reported by the relevant exchange, errors, omissions excluded; plus or, as the case may be, minus (b) any spread that FOREX.com Canada applies when such an Expiry Transaction is closed. Details of the spread that is applied by FOREX.com Canada when a particular Expiry Transaction is closed are available on request. You acknowledge that it is Your responsibility to make yourself aware of the Last Dealing Time and of any spread or commission that we may apply when you close an Expiry Transaction.
- 4.10. Market Suspension of a CFD. If at any time trading on a regulated market is suspended in any Reference Asset which is listed on a market, FOREX.com Canada shall calculate the value of the CFD with reference to the last traded price before the time of suspension, or a closing price as reasonably determined by FOREX.com Canada if no trading in that Reference Asset is undertaken during the business day on which a suspension occurs. In the event that the aforesaid suspension continues for five (5) business days, FOREX.com Canada and You may in good faith agree a closing date and a value of the CFD. In the absence of such agreement, the CFD shall remain open in accordance with the provisions of this clause until such time as the aforesaid suspension is lifted or the CFD is otherwise closed. During the term of a CFD whose Reference Asset is suspended FOREX.com Canada has the right to terminate the CFD at our discretion and to amend or vary margin requirements and margin rates.
- 4.11. Market Delisting of a CFD. If a regulated market on which a Reference Asset is principally traded announces that pursuant to the rules of such market the relevant Reference Asset has ceased (or will cease) to be listed, traded or publicly quoted on the market for any reason and is not immediately re-listed, re-traded or re-quoted on the market or quotation system located in the same country as the market, or already so issued, quoted or traded the day on which such event occurs, or (if earlier) is announced shall be the closing date. The closing price will be such price as notified by FOREX.com Canada to You.
5. MARGIN REQUIREMENTS. Customer shall provide to and maintain with FOREX.com Canada Margin in such amounts, in cash or other such forms, and within such limits as FOREX.com Canada, in its sole discretion, may from time to time require. Customer's Account will be under the control of FOREX.com Canada. FOREX.com Canada may change Margin requirements at any time, without prior notice to Customer, and may call for additional Margin ("Margin Call") at (i) any time Customer's Margin Balance falls below FOREX.com Canada's Minimum Margin Requirement as applied to that Account; and (ii) any time FOREX.com Canada, in its sole discretion, believes that it is prudent to do so. FOREX.com Canada may at any time liquidate Customer's Account in accordance with Section 9 below. FOREX.com Canada may withdraw funds from the Customer's account without notice: (i) to ensure that Posted Margin equals or exceeds Required Margin; and (ii) to satisfy any payment obligation to FOREX.com Canada, including commissions, fees and charges in respect of Customer's Account (See Section 11 "Charges"). In the event that Customer directs FOREX.com Canada to sell any Margin, Collateral, Contract or other property and FOREX.com Canada is unable to deliver such Margin, Collateral, Contract or other property to a purchaser because Customer fails to deliver it to FOREX.com Canada, FOREX.com Canada may borrow or purchase any Margin, Collateral, Contract or property necessary to make such delivery, and Customer hereby agrees to guarantee and hold FOREX.com Canada harmless against any liability, claim, loss, damage, cost or expense, including attorneys' fees that FOREX.com Canada may sustain.
6. SECURITY AGREEMENT. In order to secure any indebtedness or other obligations at any time owing from Customer to FOREX.com Canada, including, without limitation, (i) indebtedness or other obligations under any Account, Contract or other transaction with FOREX.com Canada; or (ii) any indebtedness or other obligations resulting from any guarantee by Customer of any Account, Contract or other transaction with FOREX.com

Canada, Customer hereby assigns, pledges and grants to FOREX.com Canada a security interest in and right of setoff against: (i) all of Customer's Accounts with FOREX.com Canada; (ii) all Contracts, cash, securities and other property in Customer's Account at FOREX.com Canada or delivered or otherwise provided by Customer to secure its indebtedness or other obligations to FOREX.com Canada or in FOREX.com Canada's possession or control for any purpose (including safekeeping); and (iii) all products and proceeds of the foregoing (collectively, (i), (ii) and (iii) are referred to as "Collateral"). At any time, in FOREX.com Canada's sole discretion and without prior demand or notice, FOREX.com Canada may apply any or all cash (or sell or buy in any such Contracts, securities or other property and apply the proceeds there from) to any such indebtedness or other obligations, notwithstanding that such indebtedness or other obligations arise in an Account other than the Account in which the cash, Contracts, securities or other property were held or generated. FOREX.com Canada shall have the right to sell, pledge, rehypothecate, assign, invest, commingle and otherwise use any Collateral it holds (including, but not limited to, using the Contracts as collateral for a loan to FOREX.com Canada) free from any claim or right of any nature whatsoever of the Customer, including any equity or right of redemption by the Customer and to register any Collateral in the name of FOREX.com Canada, its custodian or a nominee for either. Any failure by FOREX.com Canada to enforce its rights hereunder shall not be deemed a future waiver of such rights by FOREX.com Canada. FOREX.com Canada is irrevocably appointed as attorney-in-fact for Customer and is authorized, without notice to Customer, to execute and deliver any documents, give any notice and to take any actions on behalf of Customer, including the execution, delivery and filing of financing statements, that FOREX.com Canada deems necessary or desirable to evidence or to protect FOREX.com Canada's interest with respect to any Collateral. In the event that the Collateral deemed acceptable to FOREX.com Canada ("Eligible Collateral") is at any time insufficient to satisfy Customer's indebtedness or other obligations to FOREX.com Canada, including obligations to provide Margin in accordance with Section 5 hereof, Customer shall promptly pay upon demand the entire amount of such deficit.

7. NOVATION OF OPPOSING CONTRACTS. Whenever there may exist in any Customer Account two (2) or more open and opposite Contracts providing in whole or in part for the purchase and sale of the same Foreign Currency, Cross Currency Pairs, Metal or CFD Contracts on the same Value Date, such Contracts shall automatically be canceled and replaced by an obligation to settle only the net difference between amounts payable in respect of the relevant currencies under the relevant Contracts, and/or the net difference between the quantities of the relevant currency deliverable there under.
8. SETTLEMENT DATE; ROLLOVERS; DELIVERY. In cases where transactions are executed for physical delivery, instructions on the settlement of Open Positions must be given to FOREX.com Canada at least two (2) Business Days prior to the Value Date. In the absence of instructions from Customer directing FOREX.com Canada to deliver, offset, or roll over Open Positions, FOREX.com Canada is authorized, in FOREX.com Canada's sole discretion, to deliver, roll over or offset all or any portion of the Open Positions in Customer's Account at Customer's risk. Delivery of Foreign Currency shall be made to the bank specified by the purchaser in a major city in the country in which the Foreign Currency is the legal tender. Unless otherwise agreed by FOREX.com Canada and Customer in writing, the Foreign Currency shall be deliverable by wire transfer. FOREX.com Canada may require payment of amounts due from Customer to FOREX.com Canada prior to 16:30 ET on any day prior to payment of amounts due and payable by FOREX.com Canada to Customer on that day. FOREX.com Canada and Customer shall exchange, make use of, and periodically update and confirm any standing payment instructions. Spot Metal deliveries will take place at a location and custodian as approved. You acknowledge and agree that unless otherwise agreed in a formal written instrument You will not be entitled to delivery of, or be required to deliver, any Reference Asset of a CFD Contract nor will you acquire any interest in any Reference Asset of a CFD Contract. If instructions, funds and documents are not received by FOREX.com Canada by the specified time, FOREX.com Canada may, in its sole discretion and without notice to Customer, offset Customer's Open Positions, roll over Customer's Open Positions into the next settlement time period, or make or receive delivery on behalf of Customer upon any terms and by any methods deemed reasonable by FOREX.com Canada, in its sole discretion. Terms and/or methods for delivering, offsetting, or rolling over Customers' Open Positions may differ on a Customer-by-Customer basis relative to the current balance in the Customer's Account.
9. LIQUIDATION OF ACCOUNTS AND DEFICIT BALANCES. In the event of: (a) an Event of Default; (b) insufficient Margin, or FOREX.com Canada's determination that any Collateral deposited to protect Customer's Account is inadequate, regardless of current market quotations, to secure Customer's Account; or (c) any other circumstances or developments that FOREX.com Canada, in its sole discretion, deems appropriate for its protection, FOREX.com Canada may, in its sole discretion, take one or more, or any portion, of the following actions: (1) satisfy any obligation Customer may have to FOREX.com Canada (either directly or by way of guarantee or suretyship) out of any of Customer's funds or property in the custody or control of FOREX.com Canada; (2) sell or purchase any or all Contracts and any securities or other property held or carried for Customer; and (3) cancel any or all outstanding Orders or Contracts or other transactions or commitments made by or on behalf of Customer. Any of the above actions may be taken without demand for Margin or additional Margin, without prior notice of sale or purchase or other notice to Customer, Customer's legal representatives, heirs, executor, administrator, trustee, legatee, successors or assigns and regardless of whether the ownership interest is held individually or jointly with others. Any prior demand or notice of sale or purchase shall not be considered a waiver of FOREX.com Canada's right to sell or buy at any time in the future without demand or notice as provided above. In liquidation of Customer's Long Positions and Short Positions, FOREX.com Canada may, in its sole discretion, offset in the same settlement or it may initiate new Long Positions or Short Positions in order to establish a spread or straddle that in FOREX.com Canada's sole judgment may be advisable to protect or reduce existing positions in Customer's Account. Any sales or purchases may be made according to FOREX.com Canada's judgment and in its sole discretion in any interbank, Over-the-Counter or other exchange market where such business is then usually transacted or at a public auction or private sale, and FOREX.com Canada may purchase the whole or any part thereof free from any right of redemption. You acknowledge and agree that FOREX.com Canada will have the right to close any CFD Transaction in its sole and absolute discretion without notice if the Reference Asset is a derivative financial instrument or commodity, as offered for trading by FOREX.com Canada as a CFD Contract, which may settle on expiry by a delivery other than in cash, a reasonable period prior to the expiry date as determined in the sole and absolute discretion of FOREX.com Canada. FOREX.com Canada will not be subject to any obligation to roll over a position in such a derivative financial instrument or Commodity. Customer shall only be liable for the payment of any deficit balance in Customer's Account upon demand by FOREX.com Canada where such deficits are the result of a mark to market after a weekend or holiday. In such cases, Customer shall be liable for any deficiency remaining in Customer's Account in the event of the liquidation thereof in whole or in part by FOREX.com Canada or by Customer. In the event the proceeds realized pursuant to liquidation are insufficient for the payment of all liabilities of Customer due to FOREX.com Canada, Customer shall promptly pay upon demand the entire amount of any such deficit, together with all other deficits and all unpaid liabilities of Customer, including, but not limited to, all costs of enforcement and collection, such as, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, witness fees and travel expenses, interest on any such deficit and liabilities at a rate equal to three (3) percentage points above the then prevailing prime rate at FOREX.com Canada's principal bank or the maximum interest rate allowed by law, whichever is lower. FOREX.com Canada – Relationship Disclosure

RELATIONSHIP DISCLOSURE

GAIN Capital - Forex.com Canada Ltd. ("Forex.com Canada") is registered as an investment dealer with securities regulatory authorities in each of the provinces and territories of Canada, a derivatives dealer in Quebec and a suitability-exempt dealer member of the Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada ("IIROC"). This relationship disclosure applies to our retail customers.

Products and Services

Forex.com Canada provides customers with the ability to self-direct their online trading activities in foreign exchange, precious metals, indices, oil, commodities and other "spot" contracts, and in contracts for difference ("CFDs"), on an over-the-counter basis (collectively, "OTC contracts") with Forex.com Canada acting as principal. OTC contracts are not transferable or fungible with other contracts or financial instruments.

A list of products and pricing information offered through Forex.com Canada's trading platform is available at Product List. Alternatively, you may call Forex.com Canada's trading desk at 1-855-317-9242 (international 1-908-458-8297) for information or to place an order. Forex.com Canada attempts to execute all customer orders that it, in its sole discretion, may accept, at or close to prevailing reference market prices using reasonable best efforts. Forex.com Canada does not charge a trade commission, rather its remuneration is added to the price in the case of a purchase or deducted from the price in the case of a sale. A Fee Schedule is available at Account Forms.

Market information is available in real time through Forex.com's trading platform. This information is generic and is not tailored for your specific needs, nor is it intended to be a recommendation for you to buy, sell or hold a particular security or position. Forex.com Canada is exempt from suitability obligations - this means Forex.com Canada will not consider your financial situation, investment knowledge, investment objectives or risk tolerances when accepting or executing your orders, and you alone are responsible for your trading activities and for any profits or losses in your account.

Customer Accounts

Customers can open an account online with Forex.com Canada on our MetaTrader platform Open an Account here. Customers can choose to open a Standard Account ($2500 account minimum) or a Mini Account ($500 account minimum), and can choose the base currency (Canadian dollar or US dollar) of the account. All accounts are margin accounts, which involves the use of leverage. Leverage allows customers to magnify profits or losses by reducing the initial capital outlay required to achieve the same market exposure that would be obtained by investing directly in the underlying currency or instrument.

Trading in OTC contracts is risky, and these risks may be magnified by market fluctuations and the use of leverage. Please carefully review the Leverage Risk Disclosure, Risk Disclosure Statement and Futures Risk Disclosure. Customers should also carefully review the information contained in the Customer Agreement provided at the time of account opening.

At the time of account opening, customers are required to state their "risk capital" for the account, which is the maximum cumulative amount that the customer is willing to risk losing, and includes any initial deposit amount. An important risk management feature of our trading platforms ensures that customer positions are automatically closed out when a customer fails to maintain sufficient margin in their account to support their positions, thereby preventing the customer from being placed in a margin call situation or losing more than their stated risk capital or cumulative loss limit. Customers may choose to reset or revise the stated risk capital for their account at by logging into their MyAccount feature, or by calling and speaking with a Supervisor.

Customers are provided with a real-time view of their account status. This includes how tick-by-tick movements affect their account balances and required margins. Customers can view this information throughout the trading day by including it on their trading screen, and can also set up alerts that instruct the trading system to automatically send an email notifying them of key identified levels being hit in the market. Customers also have the ability to monitor their account and the profit/loss of their positions in real time. Trade confirmations and account statements are provided electronically and are available to Customers through their online account.

FOREX.com Canada – Conflicts of Interest Policy

Introduction

Conflicts of interest exist in all businesses and in all financial services organizations. We live in a complicated world and this is reflected everywhere, nevertheless, we recognize that our business is above all based on a bond of trust between us and our clients and we are duty bound to identify and manage those conflicts.

Accordingly we have put in place a number of policies, procedures and processes designed to identify, evaluate and manage these conflicts of interest. The purpose of this Conflicts of Interest Policy (the "Policy") is to identify in a summary form those conflicts which we experience as an organization and to describe how we address the challenges such conflicts impose on us. The Policy applies in respect of all activities undertaken by employees and associates of Gain Capital FOREX.com Canada Ltd. ("FOREX.com Canada").

Identification of Conflicts of Duty and Interest

We recognize that, in certain circumstances, conflicts of interest or the appearance of a conflict of interest can arise between your interests and the interests of FOREX.com Canada, its directors and employees and other related affiliates or associates within the FOREX.com group of companies. Conflicts or potential conflicts of interest may arise, in particular, where:

- FOREX.com Canada employees are dually-employed with an affiliated company within the related FOREX.com group of companies;
- FOREX.com Canada acts as principal in executing your order and thereafter enters into an off-setting trade with an affiliated company within the related group of companies, thereby potentially giving rise to an appearance of conflict of interest with your interests;
- FOREX.com Canada acts on behalf of you in executing your order and earns a profit on the spread in lieu of charging a trade commission; or
- FOREX.com Canada provides services to you in circumstances where it has knowledge of other actual or potential transactions in the relevant class of investments.

In identifying the potential types of conflicts that arise, or may arise, and whose existence may entail a material risk of damage to the interests of a client, FOREX.com Canada takes into account whether it or any affiliate:

- is likely to make a financial gain, or avoid a financial loss, at the expense of any client;
- has an interest in the outcome of a service provided to the client or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the client, which is distinct from the client's interest in the outcome;
- has a financial or other incentive to favour the interest of another client or group of clients over the interests of the client;
- carries on the same business as the client; or
- receives or will receive from a person other than the client an inducement in relation to a service provided to the client, in the form of monies, goods or services, other than the standard commission or fee for that service.

Management of conflicts of interest

To prevent and minimize the risk of such conflicts giving rise to a risk of damage to the interests of our clients we have adopted a number of internal systems, procedures and controls, as follows:

- Personal account trading restrictions which prohibit all employees and associates from trading in the same products offered to clients by FOREX.com Canada
- Internal disclosure requirements which cover the giving and accepting of gifts or other inducements relating to our business for all employees and associates
- Internal segregation of functions where their performance by the same person would increase the risk of conflict
- The maintenance of a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics requiring our directors and employees to act in the best interests of our clients and effectively manage any conflicts arising
- Measures to prevent or limit any person from exercising inappropriate influence over the way in which an employee or associate carries out its services or activities.
- Restrictions of access to data stored electronically or in hard-copy form and procedures preventing or controlling the exchange of information between employees and associates where there is a risk of a conflict of interest
- Our directors, officers and employees are required to maintain confidentiality of all information entrusted to them, including in particular, confidential client information, except where disclosure is required by law or regulation or where necessary in the ordinary course of business in order to service your account. Further, employees are strictly prohibited from using such information for their own trading or personal gain.

Acting as principal

FOREX.com Canada will execute your orders on the basis that we act on our own account as principal and not as your agent, unless we specifically inform you that we are dealing with you as agent with respect to a particular Transaction or class of Transactions. We do not charge trading commissions when executing your orders, however we may earn profit on the spread in accordance with normal commercial terms.

Acting for or on behalf of clients

FOREX.com Canada does not usually act as agent for or on behalf of clients when executing orders.

FOREX.com Canada has procedures and arrangements which provide for the prompt, fair and expeditious execution of client orders as principal transactions in accordance with the time of their reception by FOREX.com Canada.

FOREX.com Canada's procedures are established to ensure that orders executed on behalf of clients are promptly and accurately recorded and allocated and that it carries out otherwise comparable orders sequentially and promptly unless the characteristics of the order or prevailing market conditions make this impracticable, or the interests of the client require otherwise.

FOREX.com Canada's procedures are established to ensure that FOREX.com Canada, its employees and affiliates do not misuse information relating to pending client orders.

Disclosures

Where we do not consider that these arrangements will be sufficient to manage the conflict or prevent the risk of damage to clients as a result of a particular conflict, then we will make a general disclosure to allow the client to consider their position, and to decide whether to continue with the service. This type of general disclosure may be made verbally or in writing before or at the time of dealing. Specific disclosure regarding any other conflicts we identify which give rise to a risk of damage will be made verbally or in writing when we become aware of them.

Risk Information Document for Derivatives

This brief document does not disclose all of the risks and other significant aspects of trading in futures contracts, options or other derivatives. In light of the risks, you should undertake such transactions only if you understand the nature of the contracts (and contractual relationships) into which you are entering and the extent of your exposure to risk. Trading in derivatives is not suitable for many members of the public. You should carefully consider whether trading is appropriate for you in light of your experience, objectives, financial resources and other relevant circumstances.

Futures Contracts(1) Effect of “Leverage” or “Gearing”

Transactions in futures contracts carry a high degree of risk. The amount of initial margin is small relative to the value of the futures contract so that transactions are “leveraged” or “geared”. A relatively small market movement will have a proportionately larger impact on the funds you have deposited or will have to deposit: this may work against you as well as for you. You may sustain a total loss of initial margin funds and any additional funds deposited with the firm to maintain your position. If the market moves against your position or margin levels are increased, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional funds on short notice to maintain your position. If you fail to comply with a request for additional funds within the time prescribed, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be liable for any resulting deficit.

(2) Risk-reducing Orders or Strategies

The placing of certain orders (e.g. “stop-loss” order, where permitted under local law, or “stop-limit” orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective because market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders. Strategies using combinations of positions, such as “spread” and “straddle” positions may be as risky as taking simple “long” or “short” positions.

Options(3) Variable Degree of Risk

Transactions in options carry a high degree of risk. Purchasers and sellers of options should familiarize themselves with the type of option (i.e. put or call) which they contemplate trading and the associated risks. You should calculate the extent to which the value of the options must increase for your position to become profitable, taking into account the premium and all transaction costs.

The purchaser of options may offset or exercise the options or allow the options to expire. The exercise of an option results either in a cash settlement or in the purchaser acquiring or delivering the underlying interest. If the option is on a futures contract, the purchaser will acquire a futures position with associated liabilities for margin (see the section on Futures Contracts above). If the purchased options expire worthless, you will suffer a total loss of your investment which will consist of the option premium plus transaction costs. If you are contemplating purchasing deep-out-of-the-money options, you should be aware that the chance of such options becoming profitable ordinarily is remote.

Selling (“writing” or “granting”) an option generally entails considerably greater risk than purchasing options. Although the premium received by the seller is fixed, the seller may sustain a loss well in excess of that amount. The seller will be liable for additional margin to maintain the position if the market moves unfavourably. The seller will also be exposed to the risk of the purchaser exercising the option and the seller will be obligated to either settle the option in cash or to acquire or deliver the underlying interest. If the option is on a futures contract, the seller will acquire a position in a future with associated liabilities for margin (see the section on Futures Contracts above). If the option is “covered” by the seller holding a corresponding position in the underlying interest or a futures contract or another option, the risk may be reduced. If the option is not covered, the risk of loss can be unlimited.

Certain exchanges in some jurisdictions permit deferred payment of the option premium, exposing the purchaser to liability for margin payments not exceeding the amount of the premium. The purchaser is still subject to the risk of losing the premium and transaction costs. When the option is exercised or expires, the purchaser is responsible for any unpaid premium outstanding at that time.

Additional Risks Common to Derivatives(4) Terms and Conditions of Contracts

You should ask the firm with which you deal about the terms and conditions of the specific futures contracts, options or other derivatives which you are trading and associated obligations (e.g. the circumstances under which you may become obligated to make or take delivery of the underlying interest and, in respect of options, expiration dates and restrictions on the time for exercise).

Under certain circumstances the specifications of outstanding contracts (including the exercise price of an option) may be modified by the exchange or clearing house to reflect changes in the underlying interest.

(5) Suspension or Restriction of Trading and Pricing Relationships

Market conditions (e.g. liquidity) and/or the operation of the rules of certain markets (e.g. the suspension of trading in any contract or contract month because of price limits or “circuit breakers”) may increase the risk of loss by making it difficult or impossible to effect transactions or liquidate/offset positions. If you have sold options, this may increase the risk of loss.

Further, normal pricing relationships between the underlying interest and the derivative may not exist. This can occur when, for example, the futures contract underlying the option is subject to price limits while the option is not.

The absence of an underlying reference price may make it difficult to judge "fair" value.

(6) Deposited Cash and Property

You should familiarize yourself with the protections accorded money or other property you deposit for domestic and foreign transactions, particularly in the event of a firm insolvency or bankruptcy. The extent to which you may recover your money or property may be governed by specific legislation or local rules. In some jurisdictions, property which had been specifically identifiable as your own will be prorated in the same manner as cash for purposes of distribution in the event of a shortfall.

(7) Commission and Other Charges

Before you begin to trade, you should obtain a clear explanation of all commissions, fees and other charges for which you will be liable. These charges will affect your net profit (if any) or increase your loss.

(8) Transactions in Other Jurisdictions

Transactions on markets in other jurisdictions, including markets formally linked to a domestic market, may expose you to additional risk. Such markets may be subject to regulation which may offer different or diminished investor protection. Before you trade you should inquire about any rules relevant to your particular transactions. Your local regulatory authority will be unable to compel the enforcement of the rules of regulatory authorities or markets in other jurisdictions where your transactions have been effected. You should ask the firm with which you deal for details about the types of redress available in both your home jurisdiction and other relevant jurisdictions before you start to trade.

(9) Currency Risks

The profit or loss in transactions in foreign currency-denominated derivatives (whether they are traded in your own or another jurisdiction) will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to convert from the currency denomination of the derivative to another currency.

(10) Trading Facilities

Most open-outcry and electronic trading facilities are supported by computer-based component systems for the order-routing, execution, matching, registration or clearing of trades. As with all facilities and systems, they are vulnerable to temporary disruption or failure. Your ability to recover certain losses may be subject to limits on liability imposed by the system provider, the market, the clearing house and/or member firms. Such limits may vary; you should ask the firm with which you deal for details in this respect.

(11) Electronic Trading

Trading on an electronic trading system may differ not only from trading in an open-outcry market but also from trading on other electronic trading systems. If you undertake transactions on an electronic trading system, you will be exposed to risks associated with the system, including the failure of hardware and software. The result of any system failure may be that your order is either not executed according to your instructions or is not executed at all. Your ability to recover certain losses which are particularly attributable to trading on a market using an electronic trading system may be limited to less than the amount of your total loss.

(12) Off-exchange Transactions

In some jurisdictions, and only then in restricted circumstances, firms are permitted to effect off-exchange transactions. The firm with which you deal may be acting as your counterparty to the transaction. It may be difficult or impossible to liquidate an existing position, to assess the value, to determine a fair price or to assess the exposure to risk. For these reasons, these transactions may involve increased risks.

Off-exchange transactions may be less regulated or subject to a separate regulatory regime. Before you undertake such transactions, you should familiarize yourself with applicable rules.
